

A detailed painting of a wheat field during harvest. In the foreground, a man with a long, grey beard and a blue tunic stands prominently, holding a wooden staff. Behind him, several other figures are engaged in harvesting, some using sickles. The field is filled with golden wheat, and the background shows a vast, open landscape under a pale sky. A butterfly is visible in the upper left corner.

“Let Them Grow Together Until...”

Sermon Text • Matthew 13:24-30, 36-43

Pastor Paul Pett • Sunday, July 23, 2023

